

June 20, 1947

The pattern (and) which energy has as form and function is determined by ^{takes} moves — the law by which energy moves =

and that law is energy or psyche itself.

The configuration of the part described by its functioning Energy, or psyche, and law are the same.

The law does not stand outside of the energy and the energy does not stand apart from outside of the law which is the direction of the energy. Everything is self-moving, self-directing psyche.

The interconnection of all energy is the self-progression (self-direction) of psyche flowing from ^{phenomenal} manifestation into